The new line of phosphorescent handles of FORTA brings to this type of support an advantage to the user.

In addition of being manufactured with high quality materials, these handles offer the advantage of being illuminated to a sudden darkness, giving the user the security of grabbing the handle and to keep his orientation.

These handles are charged in a few minutes and its light lasts long enough to solve the problem, losing very slowly its light, keeping its visibility much time in the dark guiding and orientating the user.

Besides standard measures, it can be served up to 6 meters long, standing on the wall with fastening pieces every 70 inches.
